Where marketing is the primary function of the position, the duties may include: handling electronic and print media activities, press releases, and advertising; meeting with interested parties to market or sell City programs and services; writing articles for publication; and graphic design work. Where public relations is the primary function of the position, the duties include: planning, developing, and implementing a variety of information for programs or materials to facilitate communication to employees, citizens, and the general public. Where education is the primary function of the position, the duties include: effectively educating a diverse public about program area issues in a positive manner; developing public education programs and materials for a variety of audiences; and attending neighborhood meetings, community events, school groups, church groups, club meetings, etc. A Marketing/Communications Specialist II may also be responsible for maintaining the division website. Scope of duties include: developing and producing division information using web technology; writing and designing pages for the website to keep it up-to-date, interesting, and interactive; and maintaining the website content to City specifications and design standards. In all situations it is important that the employee exercise a high degree of discretion and courtesy in dealing with the public. Public contact may be stressful at times when it entails confrontational meetings as a result of dissatisfied citizens, business owners, customers, etc. May have lead responsibilities for a project or team (by assignment). Responsibilities may also include supervision of clerical or paraprofessional classes. Employees in this class may perform any combination of marketing, public relations, or education duties as assigned. This class performs related duties as required.

Distinguishing Features: This class is distinguished from the Marketing/Communications Specialist I class by performing work of greater complexity and scope, and by the considerable latitude exercised and minimal supervision required. A significant element of work involves public contact of a specialized nature, which requires patience, tact, and persuasion in dealing with citizens, news media, representatives, and businesspersons who are affected by City programs or projects. This class is FLSA exempt-administrative.

Arts and Cultural Assignment: The Arts and Cultural assignment will include duties related to any or all of the Department's activities, including Arizona Museum of Natural History, i.d.e.a Museum, and Mesa Arts Center programs. In addition to the above responsibilities, the assignment may involve grant writing, membership support, and special projects as assigned. Responsibilities of the Mesa Arts Center assignment include marketing efforts for internal departments, such as the Mesa Contemporary Arts Museum, art studios, engagement programs, annual festivals, community events, and facility rentals.

Energy Resources Assignment: Responsibilities will include gaining an in-depth understanding of Mesa's energy utilities' business models in order to design and implement programs that contribute to the financial success of the Energy Resources Department. The incumbent will have experience with coordinating energy utility meetings with developers and representatives from multiple city departments to ensure that energy utilities services are provided in an efficient, safe, reliable, timely, and cost-effective manner. This job classification will collect and analyze the costs to extend service to new or expanding customers and the associated revenues; incorporate such analyses into the negotiation of Service Extension Agreements; and prepare agreements for execution by Department Management. Service Agreements also require ongoing administration, including monitoring of revenues.

Environmental Management & Sustainability Assignment: Responsibilities also include participating in seasonal events, special events, public school and neighborhood presentations, and other educational services. Incumbents may perform evening and weekend work in conjunction with solid waste/recycling exhibits or demonstrations, or promotional activities/presentations at schools, fairs, trade shows, workshops, and community events.

Hispanic Outreach Assignment: The Hispanic Outreach assignment assists in the implementation of a Citywide communications plan, and develops and produces public information programs and publications, which are marketed to Mesa's Hispanic citizens, businesses, visitors, and Hispanic media.

Transportation Assignment: Responsibilities will include developing, implementing, and overseeing a comprehensive community education and outreach campaign; maintaining the Transportation website; and developing marketing plans to promote the City's Transportation Plan, safety programs, and other related transportation programs and issues.

Water Resources Assignment: Responsibilities also include maintaining the Water Resources website; creating social media posts and other digital content to relay key messages to customers; updating scheduled publications (including the Consumer Confidence Report) and school educational materials; promoting Water Resources' programs through television segments and community events; graphic design; maintaining editorial calendars and internal communications; developing marketing plans to promote the Know Your H2O water education/outreach program and other related water/wastewater programs; and pursuing creative funding opportunities including grants and fundraising for special projects. Some evening and weekend work for special events may be required.
