1. Welcome Announcements.

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo welcomed everyone to the meeting and introduced the other Redistricting Commission members in attendance. She announced the redistricting process only happens every 10 years and is important for providing equitable representation in each district. She identified the goal is to use the current census data to adjust the boundaries on the map and the Commission is most interested in public feedback to help make those decisions. She said the residents know their community best and will assist by defining their Communities of Interest (COI).

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo announced this is a public hearing and requested those in attendance to state their name for the record if they make a comment or ask a question.

Hear a presentation on redistricting principles, communities of interest, and redistricting mapping tools.

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo presented a PowerPoint presentation. (See Attachment 1) She provided a brief overview of the redistricting process and reiterated the goal of even representation for each district. She noted the focus is Mesa Council representation only and has nothing to do with the state or federal elections. She indicated the City Charter is a governing document that requires a five-member nonpartisan commission be appointed to conduct public outreach. She said the public will define their community and the Commission will use that information to present a recommended map to City Council. (See Pages 1 through 5 of Attachment 1)

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo outlined that the language of the City Charter mandates that no City Council member may be removed from their district, and it does not matter if they are in their final term. She noted that this rule often causes the boundary lines to be drawn in odd shapes to keep incumbents within the boundaries while leveling the population. (See Page 8 of Attachment 1)

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo displayed the timeline of the redistricting process. She indicated the pandemic delayed the delivery of data, which has condensed the timeline to a few months, giving them until November 15, 2021, to present the recommended map to City Council. She explained City Council may reject the map but must accept the second and final recommendation from the Redistricting Commission. (See Page 9 of Attachment 1)

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo reviewed the traditional redistricting principles and said although they anticipate more growth in District 6, they are required to work with the census data as a snapshot in time. The Redistricting Commission appointed 10 years from now will have another challenge in considering that growth. She said each district should be contiguous and connected without pockets, must remain inside of the Mesa boundary lines, and kept as compact as possible. (See Pages 10 and 11 of Attachment 1)

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo pointed out that COI are subjective and open-ended, defined by each person as to how their community is bonded together (i.e., a development, an area around a church, a school, a community center, etc.). She referred to minority communities covered by the Voting Rights Act and said they may be considered but could not be the predominant factor of what draws them together. (See Pages 12 through 14 of Attachment 1)

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo shared three critical questions in defining COI for redistricting and offered an example of a relationship the City may have with an economic development area that may be affected by City policy. (See Pages 15 through 21 of Attachment 1)

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo emphasized the importance of public input and/or the COI worksheet for the Commission to review. She acknowledged that not everyone will be pleased with the outcome, and they will need to make some tough decisions. She added the Commission would make every effort to honor the requests of the public in their boundary adjustments and will strive to keep identified communities together.

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo discussed the tools available for submitting maps and described DistrictR as an online intuitive map that allows users to paint COI on the map. She said the detailed census data should be available soon in a more usable format online and staff will send that link to the attendees once it is released. (See Pages 22 through 24 of Attachment 1)

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo reported the census data shows the City of Mesa population is 504,300 and divided by six districts determines the ideal goal to be 84,000 people in each district, allowing a small percentage of wiggle room between the smallest and the largest district. She described the challenge is the massive growth in District 6 that will require moving 20,000 people out of the district, hence shifting all other districts. She reiterated the rule that the incumbent councilmember's address acts as an anchor and must remain within the boundaries of the district, and she used District 6 to illustrate how that may affect the shape of the boundaries.

3. Receive public comment, questions and answers with the public.

Citizens present were Kimberly Crowther-Miller, Matthew Law, and Robert Mason.

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo responded to questions with the following facts:

- One reason districts are oddly shaped is due to the address of the councilmembers at the time of the last redistricting.
- The updated map online will identify the general area of each councilmember's home address.
- The updated map will show newly developed areas such as Eastmark and Cadence, whereas the printed copies do not.
- The updated map will have a feature to zoom into areas to see layers of populations.
- County islands are not to be considered during the remapping process.
- Political reasons for keeping an address in a specific district is irrelevant, only resident input is considered.
- The public can weigh in on any and all areas in the City of Mesa, not only their district.
- The more maps and communities of interest presented by the public the better.
- Maps may be submitted in person using the placemats provided or online.
- The more people spread the word to friends, neighbors and their circles, the more people will understand the process.

Responding to an inquiry from Matthew Law about the only police precinct in District 6 and how drawing that into another district may affect the community, Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo stated police districts are considered citywide, not by council district, and Mesa has six council districts and four police districts.

City Manager Christopher Brady explained Police, Fire and Public Works serve the city as a whole and are not defined by Council districts. He said Mesa is getting a new substation on Power Road and Brown Road which will free up more services to the south.

Chairperson Villanueva-Saucedo thanked everyone for their attendance and participation.

Adjournment.

Without objection, the Council Redistricting Commission Public Outreach meeting adjourned at 6:30 p.m.

I hereby certify that the foregoing minutes are a true and correct copy of the minutes of the Council Redistricting Commission Public Outreach Meeting of the City of Mesa, Arizona, held on the 26th day of August 2021. I further certify that the meeting was duly called and held and that a quorum was present.
